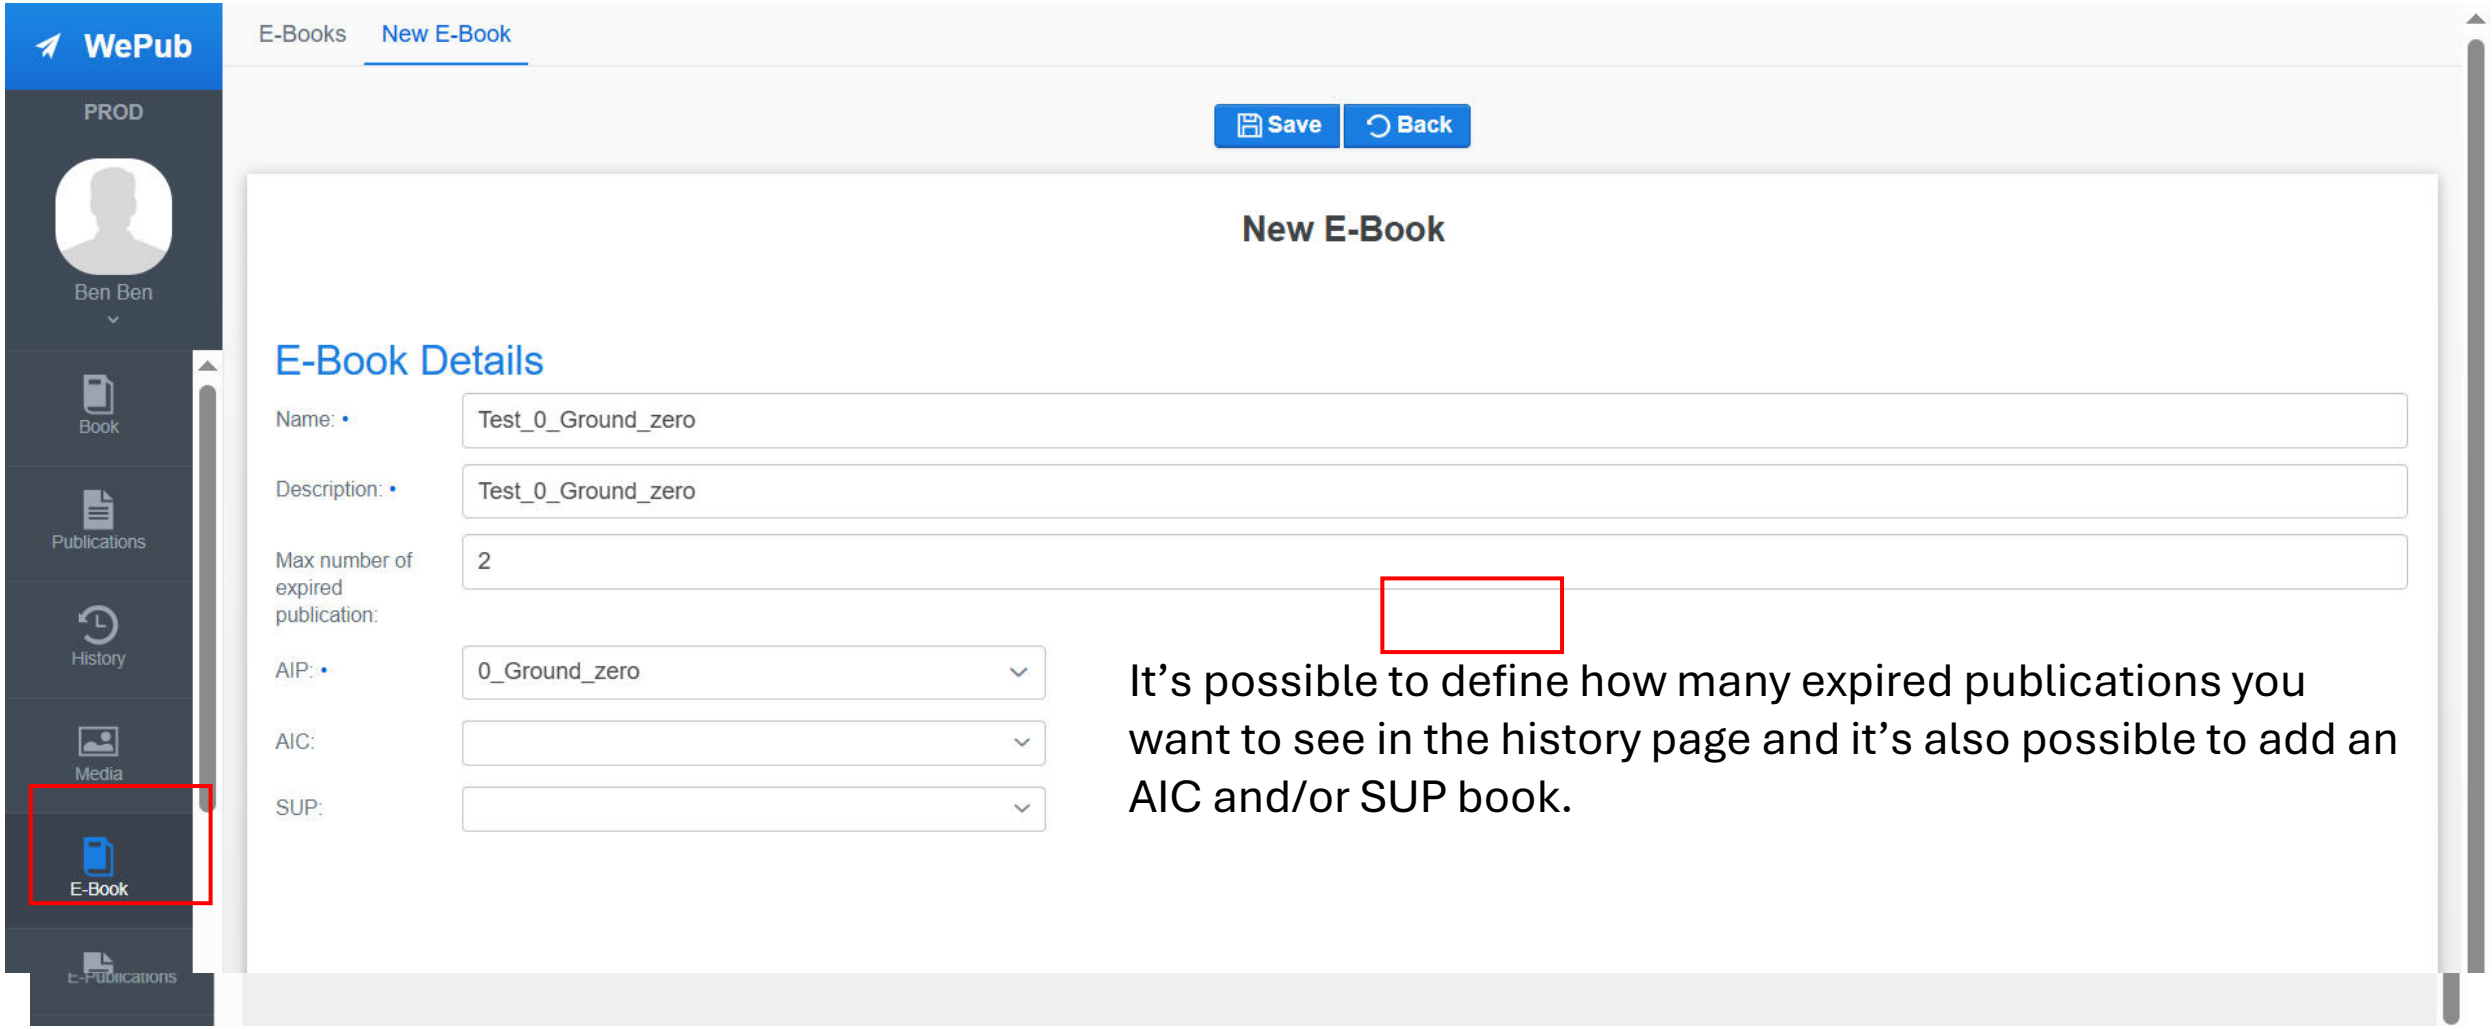
E-Book

E-Book

By clicking on the “E-Book” tab it’s possible to create a new e-book selecting “Create New”.
It’s mandatory to fill the name and the description field and to select an AIP from the drop-down list.



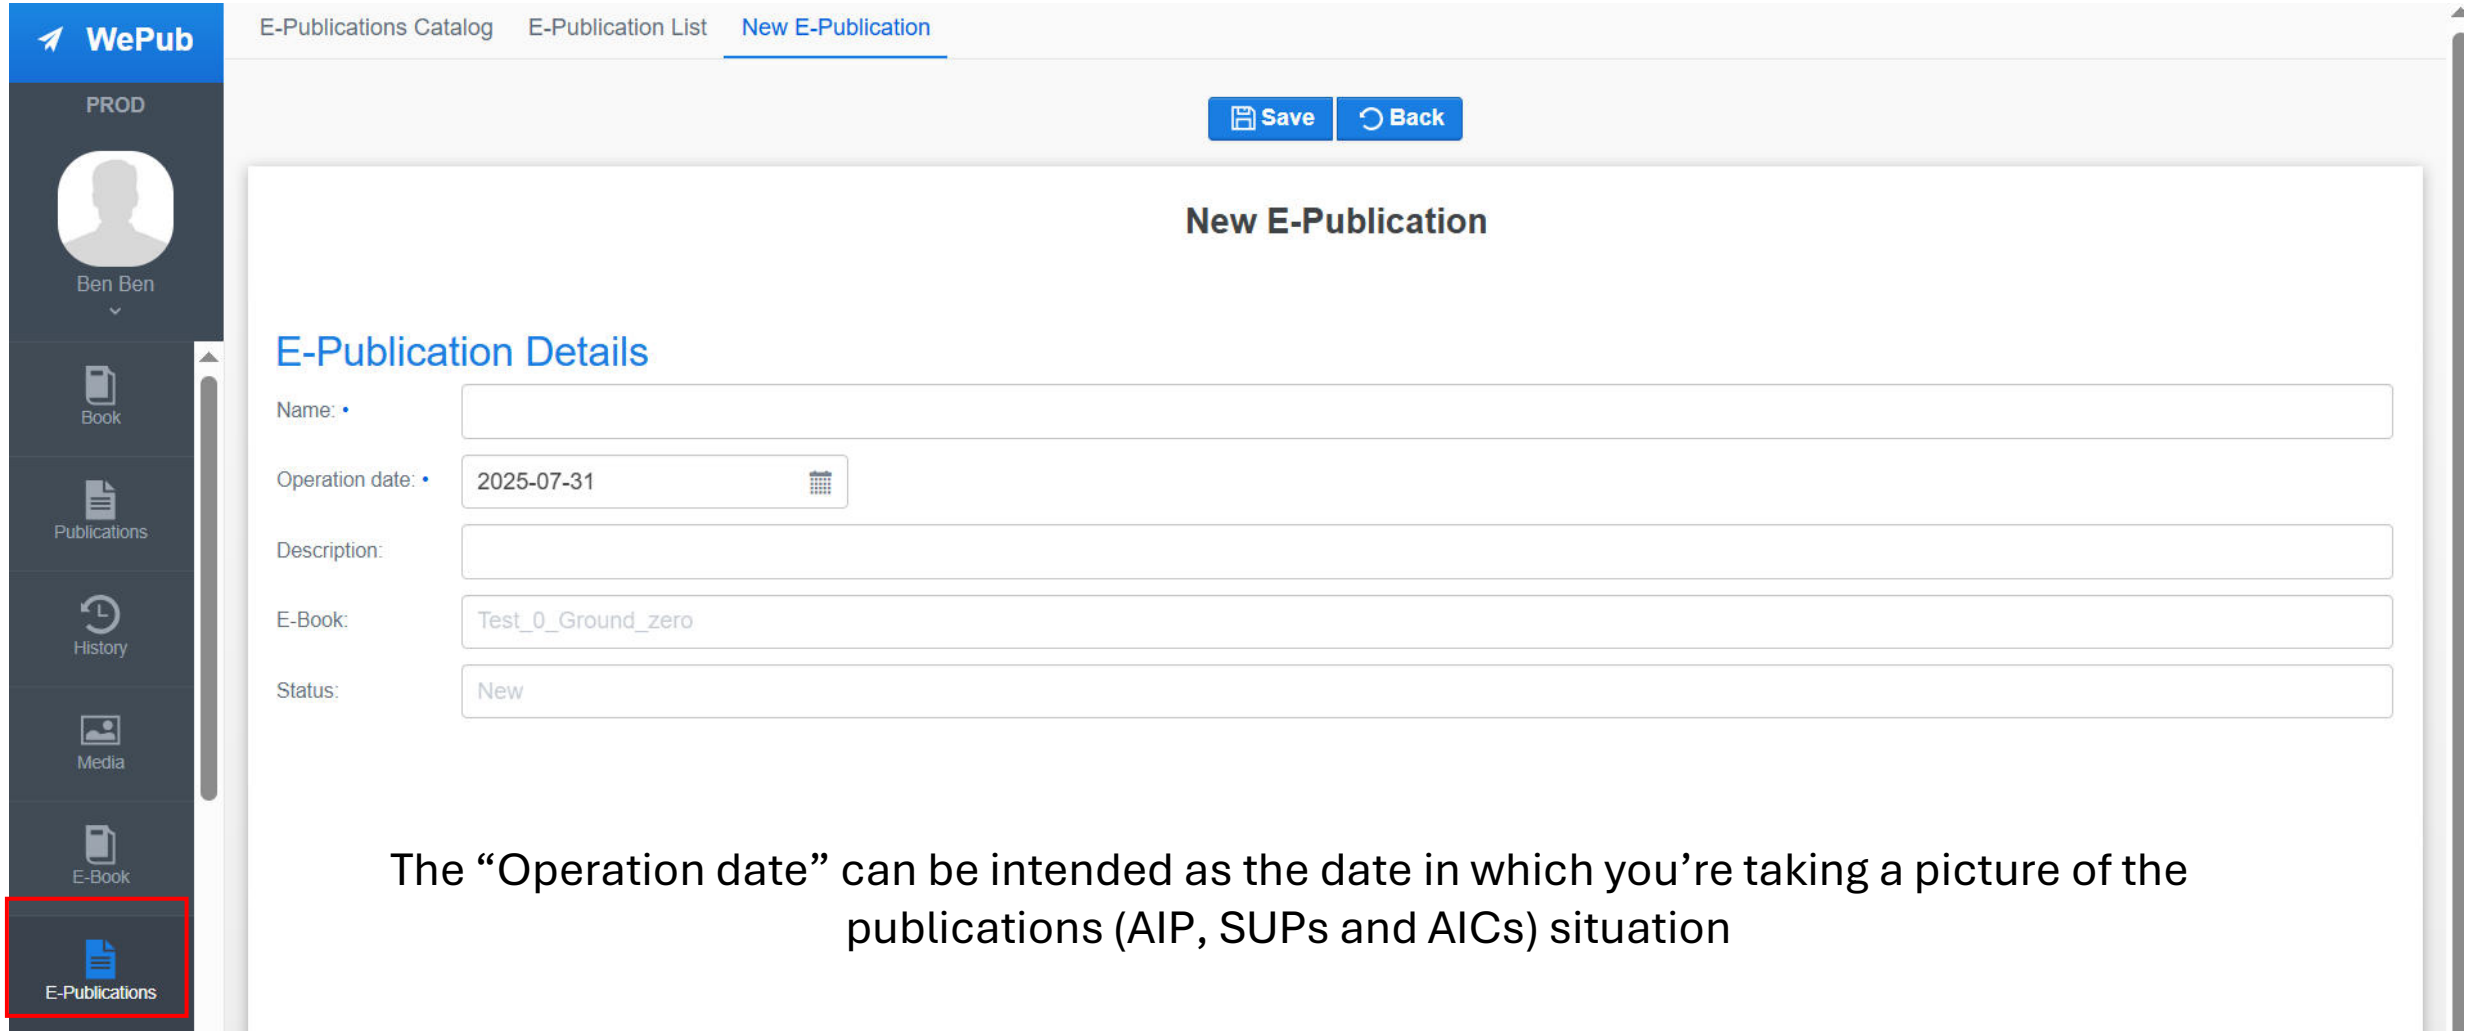
It’s possible to define how many expired publications you want to see in the history page and it’s also possible to add an AIC and/or SUP book.

E-publications

E-Publication

By clicking on the "E-Publication" button all the available e-books will be shown

The user must set a name and an Operation Date for the E-Publication



The "Operation date" can be intended as the date in which you're taking a picture of the publications (AIP, SUPs and AICs) situation

E-Publication

- The Operation Date is related to the effective dates of AIP publications.

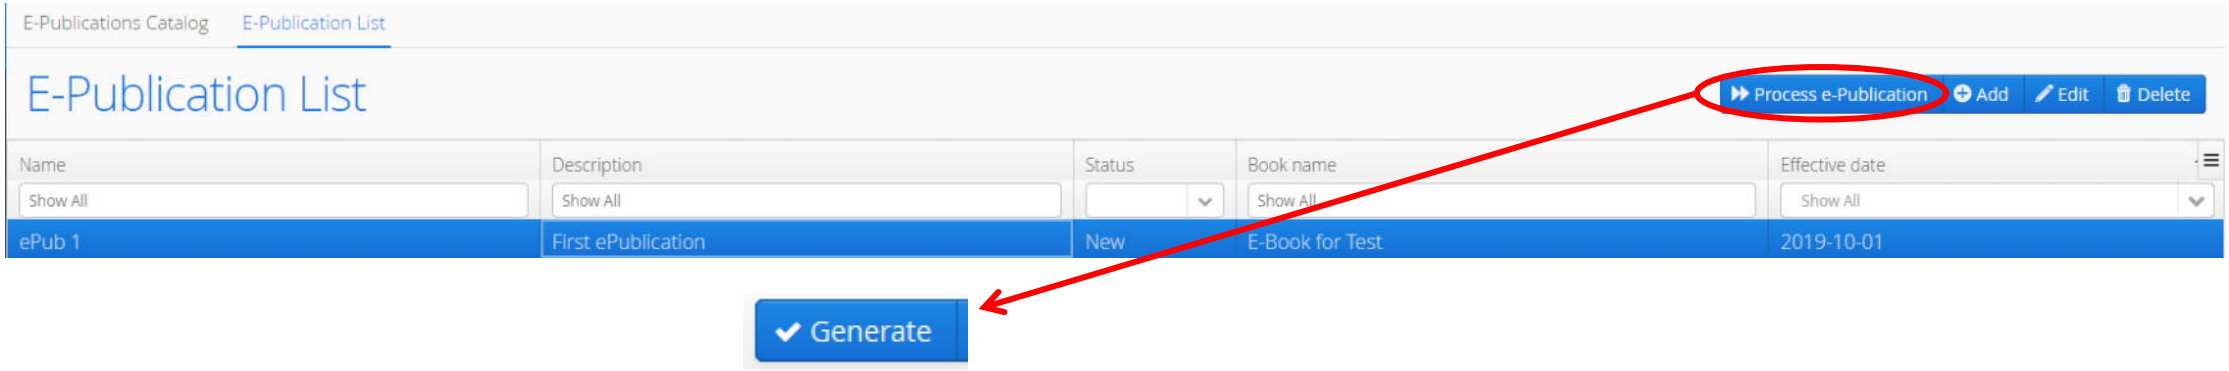
- When the Operation date is before the Effective date of an AIP Publication, the Amendment will be visualized in the History Page as a Next Issue.
- If the Operation date is equal or after the Effective date of the last AIP Publication the Amendment will be listed in the “Current Issue” tab while the previous amendments will be inserted in the “Expired” list.

- For AICs and SUPs the Operation Date is according to the Publication date.

- The Electronic Package will include all the archived circulars or supplements having a publication date equal or before the Operation Date. The eAIP takes also in consideration the end date of AICs and SUPs.

E-Publication

- Once created the e-Publication is in “New” status.
- The user selects the e-Publication and presses “Process e-Publication” button



E-Publication

- When the status of the e-Publication is “Generated” new buttons are displayed in the top of the interface:

- The “Archive” and “Reject” work for management of the e-Publication as for traditional amendments;
- The “Browse” button allows the user to consult the electronic package.

E-Publication

- The eAIP Issues page is displayed.
- In this page all the amendments “Closed” in the book which is considered are listed, according with the effective dates.

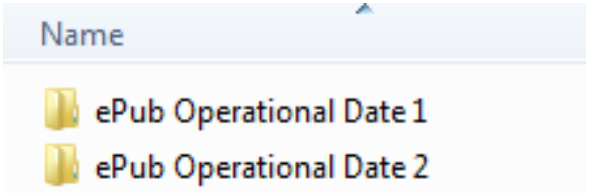
eAIP package creation process

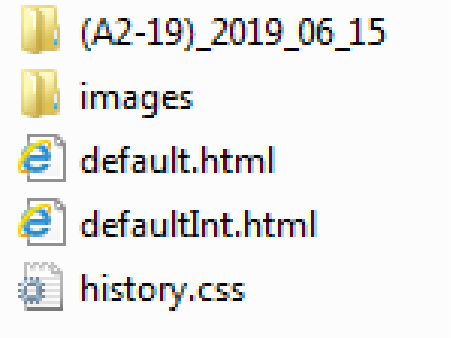
Procedure for E-Book creation

Making the current issue working as in operative

3. generate another publication (Pub 2) with effective date E.D.2 > E.D.1, archive the publication
4. generate and archive an ePublication ePub 2 with operational date:
   E.D.1 < O.D.2 < E.D.2
5. by Media, download the zip file stored in ebooks with effective date = O.D.2 and upload the unzipped folder on the dedicated server for the eAIP website renaming the folder according the customer needs (for istance ePub Operational Date 2).



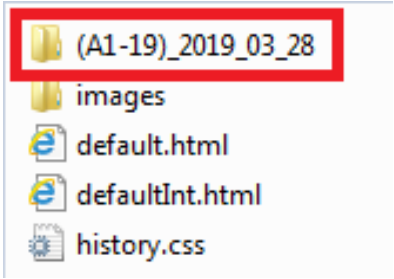
The folder for Operational Date 2 stored on the server contains the following files:



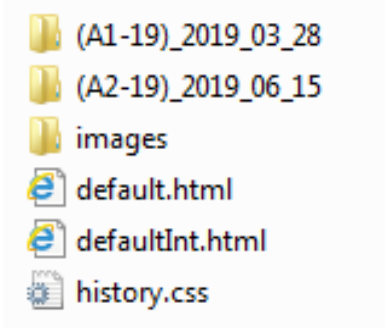
Procedure for E-Book creation

Making the current issue working as in operative

6. Open the folder ePub Operational date 1 stored on the server and copy the following folder:



7. Paste the folder copied in the previous step in the folder ePub Operational Date 2 stored on the server as described in the following image:



By opening “default.html” the eAIP website will show the history page where:

- the ePub 1 will be available under Current Issue section.
- the ePub 2 will be available under Next Issue section.

Exercises on eAIP

E-Publication exercises

- Verify that there is at least an AIP archived.
- Verify that the AIC and SUP books contain more than a publication archived.
- Create an e-Book.
- Create an e-Publication setting an Operational Date before the AIP's Effective Date.
- Generate the e-Publication and browse it.
- Create and Generate another e-Publication for including different AICs, SUPs, and amendments according with their effective and publication dates.

Exercises on eAIP

- Reproduce the “E-book creation process” for having an updated and working “History Page” in your local computer visualization

- Any other exercise for becoming familiar with the eAIP production.
